I was thinking about you over the weekend. You probably deal with a ton of crap without any thanks. I can't imagine the bullshit you deal with from the insurance company, to their consultants and then having to deal with your own customer too.

I just want to say thanks to you for fighting on my behalf and all the things you do behind the scenes that no one knows about. I know my claim isn't that much and probably has turned out to be less than you thought but I appreciate what you and your team of people have done.

Thank you !!
