To Whom It May Concern:

I have represented a substantial number of clients who have had reason to sue or make claims against insurance companies on account of losses sustained by such clients. In many of such cases the services of Sidney Greenspan and Company, public adjusters, have been utilized in behalf of such clients.

I have always found, without exception, that these services of Sidney Greenspan and Company were extremely helpful in determining the nature and extent of my clients' rights under their insurance policies. I can recall no case in which, as a result of such services, the amounts recovered and the rights established were not substantially increased. Equally important, the services of of this public adjuster were always available and on call, always courteous and cooperative, and invariably complete and comprehensive.

I would not hesitate to recommend Sidney Greenspan and Company in any case involving computation, interpretation or determination of any claim arising out of policies of insurance.
